CAADS

California Association for Adult Day Services

Established in 1977, California Association for Adult Day Services (CAADS) is the oldest and largest state association for adult day services in the nation and provides national leadership on policy issues. CAADS is a 501 (c) 6 organization supported by dues, donations, and fee-based educational activities, whose purpose is to develop leadership skills, and facilitate the success of its members who support and assist people with long-term challenges to realize their individual potential.

CAADS members include providers, local government, case managers, consultants, vendors and others interested in supporting the mission of the organization. CAADS provider members agree to abide by a Code of Ethics and are screened and approved by the CAADS Membership Committee.
